*Welcome to the 2019 AESOP
Congress in Venice, Italy*

President's Welcome

Dear participants of the 2019 AESOP Congress in Venice!

I welcome you with great pleasure to an outstanding event in an extraordinary city! Enjoy meeting with old and new friends, the exchange of stimulating ideas, and the congenial hospitality of IUAV and the local organizing committee.

Many things will happen during the 2019 AESOP Congress:

- The representatives of the Global Planning Education Associations Network (GPEAN) will meet and discuss the international cooperation between planning associations worldwide. The GPEAN team organizes special sessions on »GPEAN Collaboration: Planning Education in the Global Context« and »Accreditation of Planning Education: Global Experiences«.
- During the General Assembly, an MoU between the Association of Collegiate Schools of Planning (ACSP) and AESOP will be signed by the respective presidents, Weiping Wu and Ben Davy. The ACSP-AESOP special sessions on »Morsels of Hope: Migration and Planning« and »Learning from Arnstein's Ladder: From Citizen Participation to Public Engagement« will continue the academic cooperation that was revitalized last year in Gothenburg and Buffalo, NY.
- The AESOP Young Academics will have their general assembly on Wednesday, followed by their annual party. Everybody is invited to join! Please also look out for the YA Roundtable on »Publishing in planning«.

About 1,100 presenters in 16 tracks and numerous special sessions and roundtable sessions will make the 2019 AESOP Congress in Venice a powerful event. But, as lovers of comic books know well, with great power comes great responsibility. The past months have demonstrated a powerful transition of the political agenda. Perhaps climate change is not more dangerous than world hunger, global extreme poverty, or the international arms race. Young persons, however, are no longer willing to accept a loss of their future to the current patterns of energy consumption and environmental degradation. And obviously planners are responsible in identifying quick and convincing answers that do not make compromises for the sake of the economic profits of a few.

From this perspective, I not only wish everybody a number of pleasant congress experiences, but a transition from »knowledge to action« (John Friedmann).

Ben Davy
AESOP President

Local Organizing Committee Welcome

It is more than appropriate that the 2019 AESOP Congress dedicated to 'Planning for Transition' will be held in Venice.

Venice is a complex urban environment where the uniqueness is therefore determining the city's fragility. The protection of Venice is not only a local and national issue because it epitomizes the most urgent global challenges we should soon agree on and solve.

Contemporary cities and territories are increasingly facing significant challenges – natural disasters due to climate change impacts, ecological crises, growing socio-economic unrests and global migrations phenomena, political breakdowns, ambitious public works and mega-projects – which inevitably require new capacities of dealing with profound changes. This is the reason why we all decided to set up this inspiring moment of exchange of knowledge and reciprocal learning.

The Local Organizing Committee welcome you to Venice and wish you a pleasant and inspiring conference at IUAV University of Venice.

Laura Fregolent and Francesco Musco on behalf of the LOC

LEONIE
SANDERCOCK

Leonie Sandercock has been a professor in the School of Community & Regional Planning at UBC since 2001. She co-created with the Musqueam Nation the Indigenous Community Planning program in SCARP and also chaired the phd program for 15 years. Her main interest is in working with First Nations, through collaborative community planning, using the medium of film as a catalyst for dialogue, healing, community development and cultural revitalization. Her current project is a community-driven feature film (Edge of the Knife) in partnership with the Haida Nation and the Inuit film production company, Kingulliit. This film premiered at TIFF in 2018 and weeks later was awarded Best Canadian Film at VIFF. Leonie now has a SSHRC grant to evaluate the impact of the film in the Haida community. Books include Making the Invisible Visible (1998); Towards Cosmopolis: Planning for Multicultural Cities (1998); Cosmopolis 2: Mongrel Cities of the 21st Century (2003); Multimedia Explorations in Urban Policy & Planning (2010); and, with Giovanni Attili, the documentaries Where Strangers Become Neighbours (2007); Finding Our Way: beyond Canada's apartheid (2010). Leonie received the Davidoff Award (2005) from the Association of Collegiate Schools of Planning, for the best book on a social justice theme in the field of urban, regional, and community planning, for Cosmopolis 2: Mongrel Cities of the 21st Century; and the BMW Group Award for Intercultural Learning for her writing on Cosmopolitan Urbanism and for her film Where strangers become neighbours (2007). In 2012 Leonie was awarded an Honorary Doctorate for lifetime contribution to planning scholarship by Roskilde University in Denmark. And in 2015 she received the Distinguished Planning Educator award from the Association of Collegiate Schools of Planning, for her contribution to planning scholarship, education, and practice.

Charter

AESOP's was founded in 1987 and has been registered as a non-profit association under Belgian law since May 1992.

The formal charter establishing AESOP was signed in Dortmund, Germany in 1987 and has the following objectives:

- to represent the interest of planning schools in Europe in national and international administrations and organisations, particularly within Europe
- to promote the development of teaching and research in the field of planning
- to facilitate co-operation and exchange between planning schools in Europe, and to encourage the harmonisation and equivalence of their degrees
- to articulate a European dimension within planning education as part of the process of institutional co-operation and integration within Europe, bearing in mind also the prospect of increasing professional mobility within Europe
- to foster and enrich higher education in planning across Europe by mutual support, including facilitating dialogue, exchange visits and the spread of information
- to defend the cause of expanding and enhancing higher education in planning and
- to promote a progressive approach to planning education in schools of planning by experts with a rounded view against rival claims from older-established academic units and from other disciplines and professions.

New AESOP Charter was accepted by AESOP Council of Representatives on 5th May 2012 in Oslo.

This Charter version was updated in accordance to the Belgian law on 20th December 2017.

BEN DAVY
President

For more than 20 years, Ben Davy has been a professor of land policy, land management, and municipal geoinformation at the School of Spatial Planning, University of Dortmund (Deutschland). Born in 1956 in Wien (Austria), he graduated from law school in 1980. He gradually became a planner while working as research assistant and associate professor at the School of Architecture and Spatial Planning, TU Wien. His first book in English, which he wrote as the Joseph Schumpeter Fellow at Harvard Law School (1994–95), deals with the pitfalls of monorational concepts of environmental justice in the siting of hazardous waste facilities. Essential Injustice (1997) presents an early version of what Ben Davy is calling “polyrationality”. Addressing many voices and many rationalities, polyrational planning demands that we “plan it without a condom” (title of an article in Planning Theory 7[3] 301–317). He is teaching BSc and MSc courses on land policy, property, cartography, real estate assessment, food injustice, border studies, and (occasionally) selfies. His favorite research strategies are doubt, curiosity, and more doubt. Humor is also OK. Ben Davy is member of the Institute of World Society at the University of Bielefeld, fellow of the Stellenbosch Institute for Advanced Study, and visiting professor of the University of Johannesburg Law School. Ben Davy is Essay Editor of Planning Theory, co-editor of Town Planning Review, and a member of the editorial board of the Journal of the American Planning Association and Planning Theory and Practice. He has been a mentor in the AESOP PhD workshops in Wien (2005), Manchester (2009), Belfast (2013), Stara Lesna (2015), and Aveiro (2017). As co-founder of the International Academic Association on Planning, Law, and Property Rights (PLPR), he has been Vice President and President of PLPR from 2010 to 2016. In 2017, Ben Davy was elected Vice President and currently is the President of the Association of European Schools of Planning (AESOP).

PAULO PINHO
Secretary General

Paulo Pinho (Oporto, 1956) is Full Professor of Spatial and Environmental Planning at the Faculty of Engineering, Oporto University, Portugal. He was the founder and has since been the Director of CITTA, the Research Centre for Territory, Transports and Environment and, occasionally, national and international consultant in the fields of Urban Planning, Environmental Management and Strategic Environmental Assessment. He graduated in Civil Engineering with a major in Urban Planning from the University of Porto (1978), holds a postgraduate diploma in Urban and Regional Planning (1982) and a PhD in Urban and Environmental Planning (1985) from the University of Strathclyde, Glasgow, UK, and the Professorship Habilitation in Spatial Planning from Oporto University (1997). He is the author and/or co-author of over 150 technical and scientific publications, including 12 books on environmental planning subjects (seven in Portuguese, one bi-lingual Portuguese / Spanish and four in English), and several papers in international scientific journals. His recent research focuses on urban metabolism, low carbon cities, sustainable mobility and metropolitan dynamics.

LAURA FREGOLENT

Laura Fregolent is full professor of Urban Planning and Director of Research Coordination at the University IUAV of Venice.

Her research interests mainly relate to the field of urban studies. Over the years she has specifically dealt with topics such as processes of urban transformation, urban sprawl and related social dynamics, conflicts connected to projects and spatial transformations, urban changes particularly related to housing dynamics.

With reference to these themes, she has gained analytical experience and extensively studied the ways through which more effective intervention policies might be designed, assuming a general framework of sustainable development.

She is co-editor of the journal Archivio di studi urbani e regionali published by FrancoAngeli.

FRANCESCO MUSCO

Francesco Musco, architect and urban planner, PhD in Analysis and Governance of Sustainable Development, Associate Professor in Urban and Environmental Planning at University IUAV of Venice where is Deputy Rector for Research. Supporter of a multidisciplinary approach to city and environmental planning, during the last years he finalized his research and professional activity to the relationship between planning and sustainability, with particular attention to the implementation of bottom-up public policies to define “climate-proof planning” in local contexts and innovation in environmental planning, with particular attention to Maritime Spatial Planning.

He collaborates with several public and private bodies to define environmental (including energy&climate) and local development policies, including the scientific coordination of numerous EU competitive projects on climate adaptation and urban planning (LIFE+ Clima, Interreg and H2020). Since 2013 Dean of the EU Erasmus Mundus Master on MSP Maritime Spatial Planning, in collaboration with University of the Azores, University of Seville, Unesco (IOC), Corila (www.seapanning.eu) and Director of the Master Program in Urban Planning at IUAV University of Venice.

FILIPPO MAGNI

Filippo Magni, Urban planner, Post-Doc researcher, PhD in Regional Planning and Public Policy at IUAV School of Doctorate Studies, graduated in Territorial Planning and Environmental Policies at IUAV and in Geography at University of Bologna, Master in Estudios Territoriales i de la població awarded by Autonomous University of Barcelona (UAB). Member of Young Planner ECTP-CEU and Resilience Lab, the Italian network for the promotion of actions and strategies of resilience.

For seven years he has been a research fellow and teaching assistance in Urban Planning at the Department of Architecture and Arts. Within the department he worked on several European projects: South East Europe – NATREG SEE (2010/2011), Central Europe – “UHI – Development and Application of Mitigation and Adaptation Strategies and Measures for Counteracting the Global Urban Heat Island Phenomenon” (2012 – 2014), Alpine Space SEAP Alps Sustainable Energy Action Plans. (2015). Since 2011 he has been actively involved with public and private bodies in defining policies for climate change and climate proof design, energy and environmental planning, coastal zone management, tourism sustainability and landscape management. Currently is adjunct professor in Urban Planning and his research focuses on the relationship between climate change issues and policies and tools for urban management.

GIULIA LUCERTINI

Giulia Lucertini, planner and architect, PhD in valuation and local economics and decision aiding. She began his research activity in France, at the Université Paris Dauphine, with a research grant on decision support in the safety of territories posed at high industrial risk. From 2013 she became a post-doc research fellow and as adjunct professor of Regional Economic Development at the Iuav University of Venice. In this period she deals mainly with resilient spatial planning, evaluation and analysis of projects and public policies aimed at climate change adaptation.

In recent years, she has also worked on the circular economy and urban metabolism linked to land use planning for a more sustainable and regenerative exploitation and consumption of natural resources, with particular attention to local food policies and more generally local agriculture.

The current research interests are about the evaluation and construction of projects and policies for urban and rural development (in their interaction and dependence), considering the multifunctional aspects of urban and peri-urban agriculture from two point of view (i) economic&social of space regeneration and creation of sustainable economies, and (ii) environmental of resilience and adaptation to climate change.

MATTEO BASSO

Matteo Basso, urban and regional planner, Ph.D in Regional Planning and Public Policy, is currently a postdoctoral research fellow at IUAV University of Venice and visiting professor at Venice International University. His research focuses mainly on quantitative and qualitative analyses of urban transformations and land-use changes, and their interaction with planning processes. In 2017 he has published Grandi eventi e politiche urbane. Governare «routine eccezionali»: un confronto internazionale, Guerini: Milano.

He has been visiting scholar at University of Westminster, London and the College of Architecture and Urban Planning, Tongji University, Shanghai. He is a member of INU (Italian National Institute of Urban Planning) and INU-Veneto Region section's coordinator of the Journal Urbanistica Informazioni.

DENIS MARAGNO

Denis Maragno, Urban planner, Geographer, Post-Doc researcher, PhD in New technologies and Urban Planning, graduated in Territorial Planning and Environmental Policies at IUAV. Member of Young Planner ECTP-CEU and Resilience Lab, the Italian network for the promotion of actions and strategies of resilience.

Currently is adjunct professor in New Technology for Urban Planning at Iuav University, Department of Architecture and Arts. From 2013 he has began his research at Iuav University of Venice, the title of the current research is "Remote Sensing and metropolitan planning: new technologies for planning of environmental resources, territorial and coastal in a climate change scenario".

Personal skills are focused on the integration of ICT with the urban planning activities. Participation in European projects: UHI Project, Developing mitigation and risk prevention and management strategies concerning the urban heat island (2013-2014); Adriplan, ADRIatic Ionian maritime spatial PLANing (2013-2015); SEAP Alps Sustainable Energy Action Plans (2014-2015), Urban Proof (2016 – ongoing), Master Adapt (2016 – ongoing), Coevolve (2015 – ongoing), Ideal Project, Interreg Italy Croatia (2016- ongoing).

MATTIA BERTIN

Mattia Bertin, PhD in Territorial Design and Government, investigator in emergency planning and management, post-disaster recovery and climate change adaptation. In his researches tries to combine emergency prevention; public for public support and cooperation; urban hermeneutics and informal governance as tool in local analysis and administration.

Permanent member of Planning Climate Change Group in Università Iuav di Venezia, invited investigator in LoCUS -Interdisciplinary Laboratory of Complex Urban&Regional Spatial Processes, UPM – Universidad Politécnica de Madrid.

Main research projects:

- EU Life VenetoAdapt: supporting cc adaptation planning of Central Veneto Region area, in particular in front of the risks connected with the water cycle and the extreme heat.
- Progetto Piani Sicuri: municipal and provincial emergency planning integration and data sharing.
- Cascia. Rebuilding a resilient village. Post-earthquakes reconstruction with participative tools to prevent reconstruction being carried out as a simple choice between “where was it and how it was” and relocating volumes without a vision.

ELENA OSTANEL

PhD in Urban Planning, Elena Ostanel is currently Marie Curie Fellow based at IUAV University of Venice, University of Toronto and TUDelft. At IUAV she is part of the UNESCO Chair on Social and Spatial Inclusion of International Migrants and she coordinates the Module on Local Government and Innovation at the Master Course U-Rise, Urban Regeneration and Social Innovation. She has been Visiting Professor at VIU-Venice International University teaching the course City and Immigration.

Among her recent publication: with G. Marconi (eds), The Intercultural City: migration, minorities and the management of diversity, IB Tauris, 2015; Urban regeneration and social innovation: The role of community-based organisations in the railway station area in Padua, in Journal of Urban Regeneration and Renewal, Vol. 11, 1, 1–13, 2017.

ANNA MARSON

Full Professor at IUAV University Venice, she teaches in the Post Graduate Program in Land Use Planning and in the PhD Program in Land Use Planning and Public Policies. Member of the Scientific Committee of the National School for Heritage, promoted by the omologous Foundation.

Currently, she is the scientific responsible of a “Support for Unesco World Heritage Sites Coordination” IUAV-Veneto Region research convention, and the scientific coordination of a “Pilot project on the implementation of the Regional Landscape Plan of Piemonte, focused on its strategic contents” for the Compagnia di San Paolo Foundation.

From 2010 to 2015 she has been Regional Minister for Land use planning and Landscape in Tuscany. For the important results achieved in this latter role – the reform of the Land-use Law for tackling soil consumption (Regione Toscana Law 65/2014) and the Regional Landscape Plan, she has received in 2015, 2016 and 2017 three different awards.

Among her recent publications, La struttura del paesaggio (Laterza 2016); a number of contributions to the first Rapporto nazionale sullo stato delle politiche per il paesaggio (Mibact 2017); Vittorio Veneto. Piani e progetti 1876-1995 (with M.Baccichet and M.Basso, Kellermann 2018).

ENRICO FONTANARI

Urban Planner, professor of Urban and Landscape Design and Planning in the Department of Architecture and Arts of the IUAV University of Venice, Italy.

Professor of Urban and Landscape Design and Planning in several post-graduate programs: European Master in Urbanism-EMU (Barcelona, TU Delft, Louvain and the IUAV); International Master in "Landscape, environment and town" (La Plata, Argentina); International Ph.D. Program in Architecture "Villard d'Honnecourt" (TU Delft, Paris-Belleville-ENSA, Universidad Politécnica Madrid-UPM). Director of the Post-graduate Master in "Landscape and Garden Design" – IUAV University. Chairholder of the UNESCO Chair of the IUAV University on "Heritage and Urban Regeneration".

Member of the Academic Council of Post-graduate Programmes, Faculty of Architecture of Barcelona.

Pro-Vice-Chancellor for the Foreign Affairs of the IUAV University of Venice.

MARIA CHIARA TOSI

Maria Chiara Tosi, urbanist, PhD in Urbanism, Professor in Urban design at IUAV University of Venice where is also an active member of the faculty board of the PhD in Urbanism.

She is broadly interested in how welfare state policies affect both the physical and the socio-economic aspects of urban environments. She has been part of numerous Italian and international research projects on the study of the evolution of urban settlements. She is currently the scientific coordinator of the Interreg Project CREW (Coordinated Wetland management in Italy-Croatia cross border region). She is member of the Academic Council of Venice International University, and Expert for the Panel "Science and Technology of Constructions and the Built Environment" at the Research Foundation Flanders FWO-Belgium.

GIULIO ERNESTI

Giulio Ernesti graduated in Architecture at Politecnico di Milano. He is full professor in Urban Planning and Design at Università IUAV di Venezia; coordinator of the undergraduate programme in Planning an Urban Design and of the doctoral programme in Architecture, City and Design -track in Regional Planning and Public Policy.

His research has focused on the process of establishment of urban planning as an autonomous discipline, between the industrial revolution and contemporary age, referring, in particular, to its legitimization and institutionalization strategies and the conflicting relationship between diverse disciplines and forms of knowledge.

Moving from the recognition of the limits of urban planning and public institutions, and their resistance to innovation, his recent research concerns theories and practices of deliberative, participatory and collaborative processes, testing the possibility to apply them as an everyday practice of urban governance and design.

MATELDA REHO

Matelda Reho, full Professor at Iuav in "Economics and Rural valuation." She teaches Landscape and Rural Policies and Environmental Policies in the undergraduate and master programs of the University Iuav of Venice. She was Director of the Department of Planning (2000-2006), Iuav University Vice Rector (2006-2009) and Territorial Planning Faculty Head (2010-2012).

Currently she is coordinator of the European Master in Planning and Policies for City, Environment and Landscape (Iuav University, UAB of Barcellona, University of Lisbon, Gerona and Sassari-Alghero). Her current research interests include the construction of policies for rural and local development, with particular reference to the agricultural landscape and the production of ecosystem services. She analyses the interactions of land use planning and land policy, focusing on synergies between different instruments and on the level of social innovation inherent in some local practices.
